

Battle Born Academy - Municipality Input

City of Las Vegas

I have met with the team from Battle Born multiple times and we have discussed how the city of Las Vegas could partner with them and how we can work together to create opportunities for youth. The plan is really well written and provides details and depth in the proposed academic program plans. The team has taken the time to meet with multiple community partners to get input, buy in and create partnerships. Based on my meetings, conversations, and review of their application, I believe that this charter school team has laid a foundation for a successful model.

We have had meetings and conversations with both Battle Born Academy and piloted Schools and fully support both applications.
