EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Mission and Vision

Las Vegas Montessori Charter School aims to create an environment that recognizes and fosters the vast potential of its students and their desire to learn. Through the application of the student-centered Montessori method, students are provided opportunities to not only learn the basic, core academic subjects, but also important life skills such as: interpersonal communication, problem-solving, and critical thinking. Through this approach, we can and will provide students with optimum readiness for secondary and higher education, with the academic, social, interpersonal, and other tools to become successful model students and citizens. With positive and engaging educational skills, our students can and will become responsible and caring community leaders.

Proposed Model

Las Vegas Montessori Charter School will apply the Montessori Method as developed by Dr. Maria Montessori. It is a multi-sensory approach that allows for self-taught and self-paced academic development, facilitated by a Montessori-trained and state-licensed educator.

Dr. Maria Montessori, the Italian pediatrician and visionary educator who founded the method, believed that when children are given the freedom to choose their own learning activities a self-confident, inquisitive, creative child emerges. As it turns out, this approach, which is over 100 years old, is exactly what parents are looking for today.

“The first Montessori environment was opened on the 6 January 1907 in San Lorenzo, Rome, Italy. Through Dr. Montessori’s observations and work with these children she discovered their astonishing, almost effortless ability to learn. Children taught themselves! This simple but profound truth formed the cornerstone of her life-long pursuit of educational reform.”

-Montessori Australia Foundation, 2007

More specifically, Las Vegas Montessori Charter School will model itself upon and replicate the highly successful approach used by Spring Valley Montessori School, a private K-8 academy which has served the local Valley for nearly 16 years. Under the same leadership contemplated for this school, Spring Valley Montessori School has positively educated an entire generation of Las Vegas children, earning numerous accolades, awards, and successes.

Upon being chartered, Las Vegas Montessori Charter School will take over Spring Valley Montessori School’s K-8 classes, and the private school will scale itself back to a pre-K institution—and, importantly for Charter School enrollment purposes, a presumptive charter feeder school. The goal of this transformation is to continue offering the community the same high-level, proven academic experience, but on a free-to-all, cost-barrier-eliminated basis.

Las Vegas Montessori Charter School does not intend to be or become part of any network run by a Charter Management Organization, or CMO. We will maintain our independence and self-sufficiency, ensuring all taxpayer funding and other school resources stay squarely within our four walls, to better serve our students, not third-party administrators in other jurisdictions.

Target Community

The community to be served is the town of Spring Valley in Las Vegas, NV. As discussed in detail below, Spring Valley is eager and in desperate need for more educational choice. With over 22,000 students attending Clark County School District Elementary and Middle Schools in Spring Valley, over-crowded classrooms and dismal test scores have been the norm. Upon being chartered, Las Vegas Montessori Charter School will provide the much-needed choice for the students and their families, as well as a chance to learn in an environment that is tailored to their specific needs and learning styles.

Expected Outcomes

For over a century, Montessori-based schools have used multi-age classrooms designed to create opportunities for student independence and accountability. Students are to follow their own curiosity and are motivated to fully understand concepts to meet their individual goals. Montessori students grow up to be enthusiastic and self-directed learners, who exude confidence and are accountable citizens to both themselves and the community.² With the Montessori Method, students will develop a lifelong love for learning and have a true sense of accomplishment. Students will be motivated for higher education and will be passionate in their careers to provide a positive change for their community.

“As most preschool students do, I learned to read and write, but even more than that I learned to love learning. I am now a high school senior, and I know that I wouldn’t be where I am today academically if it wasn’t for Spring Valley Montessori and Ms. Susan. Today, I am completing my application for the United States Naval Academy, and it is because of my foundation at Montessori School that I am able to be a competitive candidate for the college.”

MEETING THE NEED

Targeted Plan

(1) The community to be served is the town of Spring Valley in Las Vegas, NV. The town of Spring Valley is primarily comprised of zip codes 89103, 89113, 89117, 89118, 89146, 89147, and 89148. The median income and income per capita in Spring Valley are 2% and 4% lower than the Nevada average, respectively. In fact, when compared to its neighboring town of South Summerlin to the west, the discrepancy is much larger as that neighbor's income per capita and median income are 118% and 60% higher than the state's average.³ Spring Valley currently has one private Montessori School, Spring Valley Montessori School, which serves as its only option for Elementary Montessori education. In serving the town of Spring Valley, Las Vegas Montessori Charter School will create an opportunity for parents to seek a methodology that would fit their children's learning style and capabilities- providing their children the foundation they need to further their education and be successful, contributing members of the community.

(2) Las Vegas Montessori Charter School will enroll children aged 5-14 years of age (Kindergarten to Grade 8), whose parents believe that the Montessori method will better facilitate their children's academic and social growth. It encourages independence and accountability, which motivates students to achieve their full potential, as they improve on deficiencies. The multi-age classrooms recreate a family structure that provides support to increase their confidence, preparing them to succeed in college, as well as in their future careers.

In the School Year 2017-2018, the State of Nevada had almost half a million students enrolled. Out of all, only about 50% of Elementary students are deemed proficient in English and Language Arts and 43% in Mathematics. Middle School students had even lower proficiency scores- with less than 48% proficiency in English and Language Arts, and 32% in Mathematics.⁴

During the same school-year, the Clark County School District was regrettably worse. Out of the 324,000 students enrolled, only 49% of Elementary students were proficient in English and Language Arts, while 42% were proficient in Math. The proficiency in English and Language Arts, as well as Mathematics were also lower with Middle School students at 46% and 30%.

As the data shows, Mathematics proficiency witnessed a double-digit percentage decline every year from Grades 3 to 6. Though Reading proficiency increased from Grades 3 to 5, it did so marginally and eventually decreased from Grades 5 to 6. By the end of Grade 8, there is an alarming average lack of proficiency—i.e., just 35% in Mathematics and 55% in Reading among Middle Schools in Spring Valley. That is of great concern, as it proves that a great majority of students are entering the local high-school ill-equipped and unprepared for the challenges ahead.

Unfortunately, the Clark County School District is in no position to resolve its schooling issues. Clark County School District, the fifth largest school district in the country, is universally acknowledged to be in crisis. As the New York Times, Las Vegas Review-Journal, and other media organizations have reported.⁶⁷⁸

- Enrollment remains at record levels. In 2014, elementary schools operated at 117.6% of planned capacity. First-grade classes which should have 16 students routinely have 25 or more students. There are 2,230 temporary trailers in use across the District. Over a dozen schools have switched to year-round schedules to alleviate overcrowding. As the CCSD Superintendent noted, he “could build 23 elementary schools today and they would open up full and overcrowded.”
- The district faces a severe teacher shortage. As of the start of the 2015-16 school year, CCSD had about 800 vacancies, 80 percent of which were for elementary-school and specials-needs positions. That shortage was despite CCSD having hired 1,800 teachers during the prior two quarters—nearly 25% of whom had no classroom experience whatsoever. Paradoxically, due to financial and legal issues, CCSD terminated the employment of over a thousand teachers in recent years. In part due to those layoffs, CCSD is embroiled in a long-standing dispute (now headed to arbitration) with the teacher’s union, and CCSD promised to try and meet certain union demands by “delay[ing] school maintenance projects.”
- In 2012, voters rejected a $669 million school-construction bond. CCSD officials hope a 2016 bond will pass, but even if it does, officials agree no new schools would come online until 2020 or beyond. The President of the Board of School Trustees described the situation as “severe, and there’s no relief in sight through traditional means.”
- Not surprisingly, the State’s academic results match the financial condition of its woefully-underfunded largest school district. In virtually every national indicator, from elementary school level through high school, Nevada ranks statistically in the bottom five among all states. In many cases, including a recent study by the Annie E. Casey Foundation grading “educational opportunities provided to public school students,” Nevada was ranked dead last—i.e., 51st—in a study analyzing the 50 states and Washington, D.C.

The application of the Montessori method allows for additional instruction to address weak subject areas to better prepare students at a much earlier age. It downplays the purported boundaries of what a child should know or be learning, and instead encourages them to learn at a pace that ensures mastery of subject areas and provide opportunities for advancement, regardless of age. Based on Spring Valley Montessori results (see chart below), the outcome is in fact much greater proficiency and academic growth.

Another need that will be addressed by the Las Vegas Montessori Charter School is the high pupil-to-teacher ratio in the elementary and middle schools of Spring Valley. The table below lists the pupil-to-teacher ratios per grade level at the current district elementary schools within

As stated in the Nev. Rev. Stat. Ann. § 388.700, pupil-to-teacher ratio should be: Kindergarten – 16:1; Grades 1 and 2 – 17:1; and Grade 3 – 20:1. Out of all schools that have available data, only two met the statute and did so in only two separate grade levels. According to the 2018 National Education Rankings Statistics, Nevada has the largest pupil-to-teacher ratio in the nation (25.86:1). Las Vegas Montessori Charter School will ultimately reduce overall class sizes within the schools in the community, while providing a proven alternative method of education to the children of Spring Valley.

Parent and Community Involvement

(1) Current, as well as past parents of Spring Valley Montessori School have and continue to be the most enthusiastic and loyal advocates of the Montessori method, informing family, friends, and community groups about the current school and the future of Las Vegas Montessori Charter School. Multiple fundraisers are organized annually with the assistance of Spring Valley Montessori School parents and we are confident that this practice will continue at Las Vegas Montessori Charter School.

Parents and community members will continue to be involved in the development of Las Vegas Montessori Charter School through grass-roots efforts- marketing to increase enrollment and supporting all fundraising efforts and activities.

(2) Once the application is approved, parents and community members are to be primarily engaged by means of social media, presentations, as well as meetings with community leaders and influencers. Presentations are to be conducted in a “town hall” setting at a local library, the school facility, and elsewhere to establish buy-in and learn parent priorities and concerns prior to and post opening. Upon completion of construction and classroom set-up, the school will host an “open-house” for the community of Spring Valley- familiarizing parents and future students with the facility, as well as educating them about the Montessori method and its benefits. Las Vegas Montessori Charter School will continue to engage the community through meetings with community groups (e.g., Rotary Clubs), conversations with parents, and attendance at community events.

(3) Parents of Las Vegas Montessori Charter School students are to be engaged in the life of the school by using the statewide Infinite Campus system. The school leader and management team will utilize the Infinite Campus system to provide detailed, real-time information, including: Calendar, Schedules, Attendance, Grades, Health (Immunizations Only), Assignments, Academic Planner, Academic Progress, Fees/Payments, To Do Lists, Reports, District/School Notices, and School Meals Application. A School App will be developed for easy communication between the school and the parents- allowing the school to easily transmit important information that the school needs to deliver to all parents, especially in time of emergencies. Other forms of communication to be used include social media and email. As most have Facebook or email accounts, we have found that this is one of the most effective and efficient additional media to communicate future events and other relevant information in regard to the day-to-day operations of the school.

“Spring Valley Montessori feels more like a community than a school with people from all different walks of life and regardless of race, religion, or anything else, and treats everyone equally.”

-Dave Chipp, SVMS Parent (2015-Present)

In building family-school partnerships that strengthen support for learning and encourage parental involvement, parents are strongly and enthusiastically encouraged to consistently volunteer in their children’s classrooms, as well as other school related activities or events. Volunteer activities include but are not limited to classroom presentations and lessons, participation in organizing school events, and fundraising. Just like Spring Valley Montessori School, Las Vegas Montessori Charter School will conduct quarterly concerts where parents and other family members are able to join others and share an evening celebrating their children’s milestones and accomplishments. Parents are to commit to being involved in their children’s education by attending parent-teacher conferences and having a consistent open-line of communication with the teachers and staff members.

(4) Various community resources will be available to students and parents of Las Vegas Montessori Charter School. A strategic partnership with East Valley Family Services will play an important role as its core mission of family wellness and social responsibility is directly in-line with the school's. Family assessments, shared goal planning, as well as providing basic needs include the scope of services of this partnership.

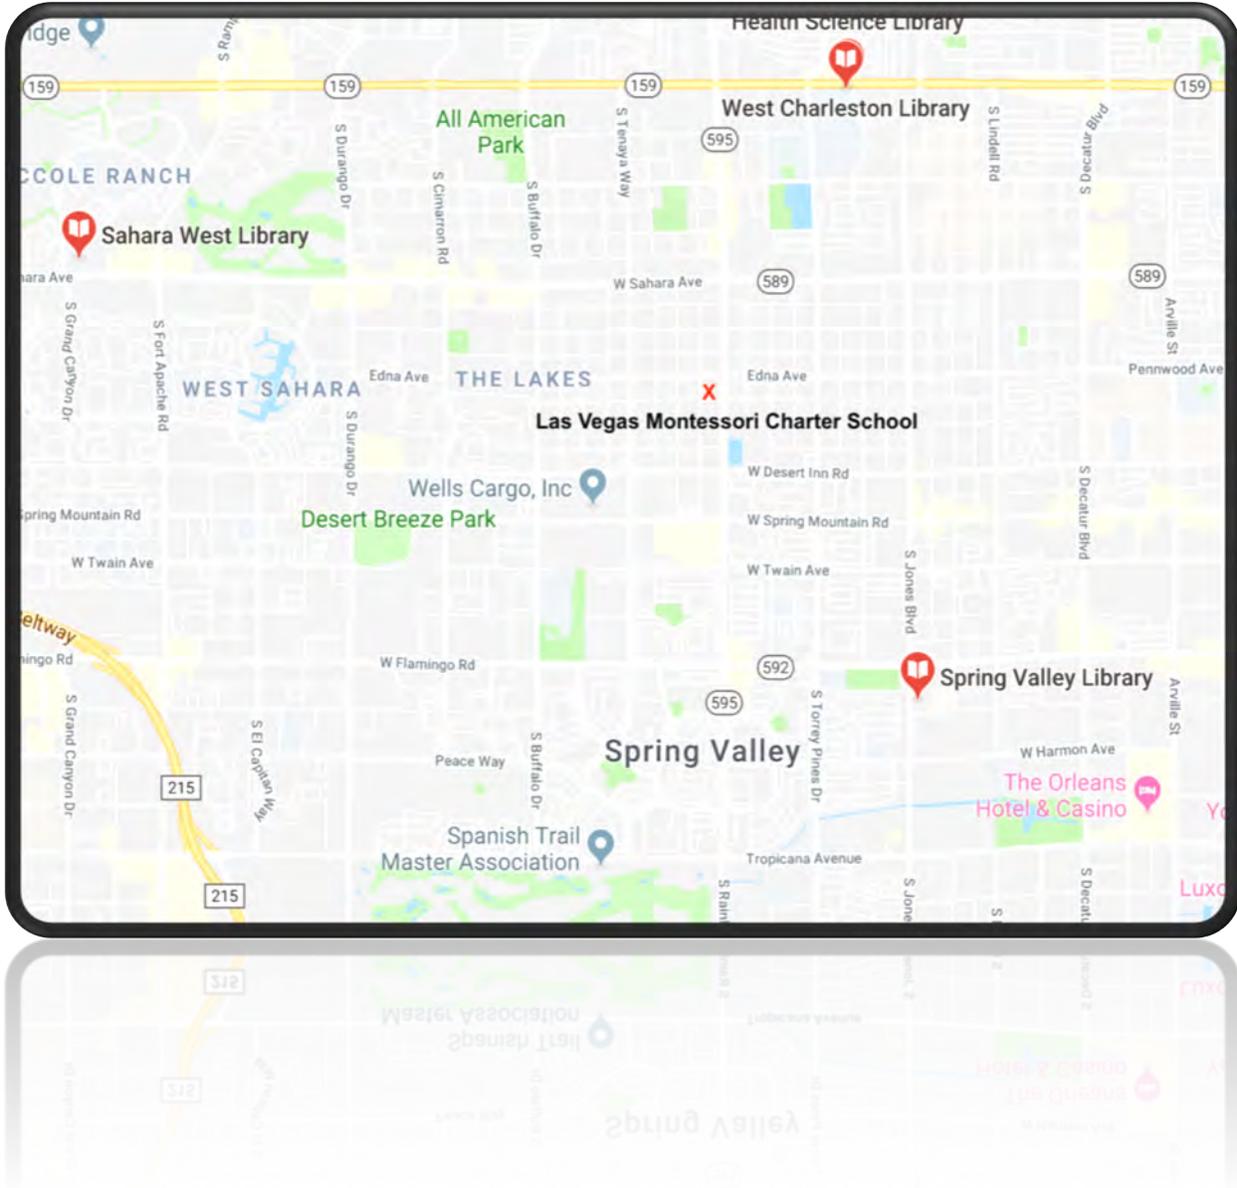

As the commitment of the Las Vegas Montessori Charter School extends to the entire family and community, not just its students, Nevada Partners will also play a critical role in transforming the community of Spring Valley. Support will be provided for parents who are unemployed or underemployed to allow them to be economically self-sufficient.

Libraries will also serve as resources available for parents and students. This includes: Spring Valley Library located in South Jones, West Charleston and Health Science Libraries on Charleston, as well as the Sahara West Library.
