Re: Good Cause Exemption

Coral Academy of Science Las Vegas (CASLV) is requesting a “Good Cause Exemption” for the submission of a charter amendment outside of the normal submission cycle. CASLV initially submitted a charter amendment at the last submission cycle in October 2020. The charter amendment was requesting the addition of a new facility and, due to that, an addition in enrollment for the 2022-2023 school year.

On page 12 of the submitted charter amendment, it stated “While waiting for a decision on this amendment, we have been searching for multiple locations in West Henderson and East Henderson in case we lose the proposed land in West Henderson for this proposed campus.”

In the time since submission, the land for a new campus in West Henderson became no longer available. With diligent searching, CASLV came upon available land for a new charter school on the west side of the Cadence neighborhood in Henderson. The land directly borders the Pittman neighborhood. With the rapid rise in development in Cadence and the need for a high-quality charter school for Pittman families, CASLV decided to create a new charter amendment given the circumstances.

This new charter amendment still plans for its new campus to operate starting in the 2022-2023 school year. The charter amendment and this good cause exemption memo were discussed at CASLV’s Board meeting on December 16, 2020, and both were unanimously approved by the CASLV Board of Directors.

CASLV appreciates the support of the SPCSA staff in regards to this matter. CASLV wishes to submit this new charter amendment by close of business on Friday, December 18, 2020. CASLV requests that the SPCSA staff review the new charter amendment over the following weeks, with an outcome being decided by the SPCSA Board at its January 2021 Board meeting.
